

seminari pvs

Freedom from Want The Human Right to Adequate Food

George Kent

Department of Political Science at the University of Hawai'i

There is, literally, a world difference between the statements "Everyone should have adequate food", and "Everyone has the right to adequate food". In George Kent's view, the lofty rhetoric of the first statement will not be fulfilled until we take the second statement seriously. Kent sees hunger as a deeply political problem.

"As a legal claim, the 'human right to adequate food' may seem thin gruel, but George Kent enriches the concept with data-based policy analysis, compelling ethical arguments, and a full review of concerned international, national and nongovernmental organizations."

R.P. Claude, University of Maryland

FREEDOM FROM WANT

the human right to adequate food

GEORGE KENT

lunedì 28 novembre
ore 14:30 - 18:30
palazzo Tron, Venezia